

Bitpalast® "Subscribe" web design module includes "SuperMailer Professional Unlimited" mailing list software (fully featured & up-to-date version)

Normally you never find out who's visited your site. And because you never find out, you can't send potential customers information about the company or current offers. At least not unless you have the Bitpalast® "Subscribe" web design module. This enables visitors to your site to request you to e-mail them up-to-date news. To do this, visitors must enter their e-mail address. This how you find out who's interested in your products.

Whoever subscribes to your newsletter is interested in your products. If and when you actually e-mail a newsletter to a prospective customer is up to you. With the Bitpalast® "Subscribe" web design module, you can begin collecting valuable addresses right away.

The Bitpalast® "Subscribe" web design module includes:

- ✓ Integration of an input field for mailing list subscription in the website menu
- ✓ Integration of a form for subscribing or unsubscribing to the mailing list, plus the creation of the associated server response page ("Thank you!" etc.) as well as double-opt-in (permission marketing, "dissuasion-proof"): Your client automatically receives an e-mail with an activation link. Only if the link is clicked, your client's e-mail address will be activated for your newsletter.
- ✓ "SuperMailer Professional Unlimited" mailing list software: professional Windows software for easy administration and personalized mailing of serial e-mails.
- ✓ Transfer of mailing list subscriptions and cancellations to "SuperMailer Professional Unlimited" by the click of a button
- ✓ Free technical support from personally designated Bitpalast® technicians
